

MATTHEW DILLON COHEN

Matthew Dillon Cohen is a New Jersey born, New York based director working in advertising and music videos. He has directed films for artists such as Gus Dapperton, Junior Varsity, and Olivia Rodrigo, as well as brands such as Facebook, Prada, Nowness, Vogue, Converse, and more.

Matthew began his career in film producing music videos before moving into direction, where he used his background in journalism to find and work with young emerging talent.

In his commercial work, Matthew is driven by working with brands that influence him and by what is culturally relevant.

Matthew describes his style as “personality based style conscious storytelling.”
